First Sound Bank - Day of Caring Volunteers

On September 12th, 8 employees from First Sound Bank came to Smithwright's Adult Care facility to participate as volunteers in United Way's Annual Day of Caring. For a few hours, these volunteers worked on landscaping, weeding, lawn mowing, planting and pruning the grounds. We were treated to a tour of the facility, learned a little about the challenges the residents go through and had a group picture. All agreed it was a very productive day and the good feeling we had inside when we were finished made it all worth it. Here is what a few First Sound Bank employees said about United Way Day of Caring at Smithwright Service's care facility:

"I can honestly say that the Day of Caring was an extreme eye opener for me. We often get so caught up in everyday lives, that you loose sight of those that have ongoing struggles on a daily basis. It really makes you appreciate all we have, and all that we are capable of accomplishing in life. Thanks again for including me in the Day of Caring." -Debbie

"I'd like to say that I was extremely glad I was able to be there with our group, I found the experience personally rewarding, it was a perfect day to be outside enjoying the sunshine as we worked together, I was glad we were able to accomplish all we did, I enjoyed the tour of their facility and hearing Nancy's speech, (which was both inspiring and touching), and their appreciation of our hard work made it all worthwhile." -Shawne
